DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3, 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeVaun (6,715,879) and known state of the art .

Claim 1 recites a conventional LCD type projector with the exception of the relative orientation of the light emitted from the projector to the screen. LCD projectors utilize LC cells sandwiched by polarizers for emitting a polarized light image. Since the claims lack any particular structure of the screen means it is deemed that the claim limitations are met by a conventional projector because a screen clearly could be oriented such that a long dimension is vertical or such that a short dimension is vertical depending upon how one wishes to display an image. Three color projectors are old and well known.

DeVaun discloses a projector wherein the direction of polarization of the light from such a known LCD projector (1) may be rotated through any desired direction by the use of element (4) which clearly would encompass longitudinal directions. Element (4) acts to filter the outgoing light such that the polarization of light reaching the screen is of a single predetermined direction. Webster's Ninth Collegiate Dictionary defines “filter” as “a device or material for suppressing or minimizing waves or oscillations of certain frequencies (as of electricity, light, or sound)”. By converting light to a single polarization element (4) effectively filters the light by minimizing polarizations other than that desired. Screen (2) includes Fresnel (8) and diffusive (9) portions.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to utilize a conventional projector with details as is known in the art in combination with a polarization device as taught by DeVaan in order to control the polarization directed upon a screen.

3. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeVaan as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Shikama.

DeVaen and the known art discloses the invention substantially as claimed but does not specify the particular projection system.

Shikama teaches bending of the projection path.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the device of DeVaan for use with any known optical arrangement, such as taught by Shikama, in order to reduce the structure by bending the optical path.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 2/15/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments are addressed in the body of the rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
